Further Particulars of the Bir- chell Murder Case.

Another Stage Robbery.

REDDING (Cal.), Sept. 26.—The Redding and Cedarville stage was robbed last night about 25 miles from Redding, near Morley's station. At 11 o'clock two masked robbers, one a large man, the other a short, strongly built fellow, ordered Ed Brackett to stop, presenting pistols. The first question asked was, "Are there any passengers?" Wells, Fargo & Co.'s box was then thrown out on demand, and from which some $800 was extracted. The empty envelopes and packages were put back in the box and sack and returned to the driver.
The robbery was not unexpected, as suspicious characters have been hanging around that locality for some time; in fact, the axe used was stolen in the neighborhood. They are supposed to be old hands at the business, for one advised that the mail be untouched.

Birchell Murder Case.

WOODSTOCK, Ont., Sept. 26.—Miss Cromwell, of Eastwood, was the first witness to day. She testified that on February 17th she went to the station to meet some friends who were to come in on the three o'clock train. She met Birchell in the line coming from the Brantford road to the station.
His shoes were muddy and his trousers rolled up. He entered the station and bought a ticket for Hamilton. She had no doubt as to his identity with the prisoner.
James Hayward, of Eastwood, testified he was at the station on the day in question, saw Miss Smith there, also Birchell. Birchell's trousers were rolled up. Henry Jones, a porter at Eastwood station, corroborated Hayward's evidence, as did Mary Swaine also.

A Secret Conference.

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—The general adjustment committee of the Chicago & Northwestern engineers and firemen held a secret conference with the General Manager and the General Superintendent this morning. The conference is the result of the annual meeting of the grievance committee, which has been in session here for the past two weeks. The engineers and firemen have formulated their grievances, which they ask the management to redress. The grievance committee concluded its labors this afternoon and adjourned.

A Mixed State Ticket.

GRAND FORKS, N. D., Sept. 26.—Late last night the State Convention of Prohibitionists and Farmers Alliance endorsed the Republican nominations for Congress, Lieutenant-Governor, Commissioner of Insurance, Railroad Commissioner; and the Democratic nominee for Secretary of State, Superintendent of Instruction and Railroad Commissioner, and nominated for Governor, Walter Muir; Auditor, P. H.
Dickinson; Treasurer, K. J. Nomland; Attorney-General, N. C. Young; and Railroad Commissioner, Ezra Turner.

Congressional Matters.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—The Democratic conferees are authority for the statement that every disputed point has been finally agreed upon by the tariff conferees, and as soon as a comparison of the bill and report is completed it will be presented to the House. The bill is to go into effect on October 6th, and the bonded period was extended until February. Sugars below No. 16 are free, and above that, will pay a duty of half a cent per pound. The duty on binding twine was five and seven-tenths of a cent per pound. The sugar schedule contains a provision that in addition to a half-cent duty on grades above No. 16, an additional duty of one cent per pound is to be imposed on such sugars when imported from a country which pays a larger export bounty on refined sugar than on the raw products.

It is said the conferees' bill will surely be reported to the House to-day, and arrangements are already made for the consideration and disposition of the report to-morrow. If the arrangements are carried out, a resolution will be introduced by McKinley providing for an adjournment sine die, on Tuesday. The bill which the house finally passed after a conference with the Senate, for the relief of the settlers on the Northern Pacific indemnity lands, applies to 400 settlers who entered upon lands in northern Minnesota. It allowed those who made settlement upon land in good faith and were qualified so to do, to make settlement on other lands within a year and be allowed upon those other lands the benefit of the length of the time they resided as settlers upon the lands upon which it has been decided they had no right to make entry.

The conference report on the tariff bill has been submitted to the House and is now being read.

HOUSE.

A resolution passed for the appointment of a sub-committee of five of the World's Fair Committee, to inquire into matters relative thereto and report at the next session.
Enloe of Tennessee offered a resolution stating that it is alleged that the postmaster of the House has on the roll of his employees, at $100 per month, a man named Bradley, who works in the Government printing office; that Bradley pays $95 per month to a son of the postmaster, who does not work in the postoffice, and directing the Committee on Accounts to investigate it.

A tilt between the Speaker and Enloe and Blount of Georgia occurred over the Speaker calling them to order for not confining themselves to the matters of the resolution.

They charged the Speaker with unfairness in restricting Democrats to the objects in hand more closely than the Republicans.

The Speaker replied that Democrats were more given to transgression than Republicans.

The O'Brien Case.

DUBLIN, Sept. 26.—The streets of Tipperary were thronged with people at a late hour last night discussing the exciting events of the day. The situation this morning is much more tranquil than yesterday. The streets are still thronged with people laboring under suppressed excitement, but there has been no collision with the police.
The authorities are taking special precautions against the possibility of an outbreak. A detachment of soldiers is assisting the police in maintaining order. The session of the court was of short duration this morning. The presiding magistrate announced that it would be impossible to go on with the case as the judge of the county court required the building. It would be necessary to adjourn further proceedings until this afternoon. Before the magistrate could declare the court adjourned, Timothy Healy sprang to his feet, and in the name of the defendants, offered an earnest protest against an adjournment. It was not right, he urged, that a magistrate in such a case should suit his actions to the convenience of the county court; that the judge of that tribunal should be the one to yield instead of insisting on the latter giving up his rights in the premises. Healy's protest was unavailing, and as soon as he resumed his seat the court adjourned until this afternoon.

National Prison Congress.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 26.—There was a fair attendance at the National Congress to-day. President Hayes was in the chair. The report of the Standing Committee on Criminal Law Reform was read by Charles Reeve of Plymouth, Ind. Following this was the paper on "The Lease System of Albany, and Its Practical Workings," by W. J. Lee of Grotto, Ala., of the Board of Inspectors of that state. This was followed by a discussion.

A GALA DAY.

The Military Companies Ap- pear in Fine Form.

The Biggest Crowd at the Fair To-day Ever Seen on the Grounds.

Virginia and Carson sent a large delegation of militia and civilians to the Fair to-day. Daily 13 carloads of humanity came in on the State Fair special from the north, and brass battalions seemed to predominate. The day was a fine one and anyone could have asked for, in every respect.
The morning program was interesting, and attracted a large concourse of people. The ladies again appeared upon the quarter stretch and gave an exhibition of their skill. The judges awarded the prizes as follows: Miss Daisy Allen first prize, $50; Miss Bee-sie Gault second prize, $40; Miss Mc-Intosh third prize, $25; Mrs. J. M.
Collins fourth prize, $15, and Miss Minnie Shafer fifth prize, $11 75.
Ed. Laird did some "brunco busting" on the Lemmons' gray. The judges awarded the prizes as follows: Jas. Razor first prize, Ed. Laird, second prize, and Charley Roberts the third prize.

At about noon the militia put in an appearance, and looked and marched like veterans. They were reviewed by Acting Governor Bell and staff, consisting of Capt. Galusha, Col.
Thomas, Col. Crosby, Col. Lt. Col.
Lee, Lt. Col. Boyle, Lt. Col.
McCullough, General Borton and staff, consisting of Adj. Holland, Maj. Fletcher, Maj. Brown, Maj.
Julien, Maj. Bryant, Capt. Hymiers and Sergt. Borton; General Keating and staff, consisting of Lt.
Col. Chamberlain, Lt. Col. Tonn, Lt.
Col. Westerfield, Lt. Col. Derby, Lt.
Col. Eckley, Lt. Col. Gorham, Lt.
Col. Sisco, Lt. Col. Overton and Maj.
Reynolds.

The following companies were in line: Battery A, under command of Captain Wilson Locklin; the Emmitt Guard, under command of Capt. P. J.
Dunn; the National Guard, under command of Capt. G. A. Morgan; the Carson Guard, commanded by Capt.
Will U. Mackey; the Reno Guard, commanded by Capt. C. H. Stoddard.
The battalion formed on the Plaza in front of the Opera House and marched to the fair grounds. The reviewing officers and their staffs were stationed on the extreme left. The grand stand and the battalion marched down the track, wheeled and marched by platoons past the inspectors, wheeled again and came to a "parade rest," with the Emmitts on the right, Carson right center, Reno left center and National on the left. Battery A was on the extreme left. They made a fine display and reminded one of the days of the war. The Nevada State militia are as fine a looking body of men as ever were seen together and look as if they could whip the whole world if occasion should ever occur for them to take up arms against any nation. This statement may seem a little extravagant, but that was the way they impressed the GAZETTE man. The awards made will be published tomorrow.

Sam Lewis won the trotting race that was unfinished as the GAZETTE went to press yesterday afternoon, and Nettie S. the unprepared heat in the quarter-mile dash.

TO DAY'S RACING.

The first race on the programme was a three in five trot between Ned Winslow, Belle Button and Frank M.
Pols sold for $30 for Frank to $20 for the balance. Frank M. made two bad breaks, and got so far behind that Keating did not drive for the heat and Winslow came under the wire first, with Kider only a nose behind, Belle Button third, and Frank nearly a distance in the rear. Time, 2:25 3/4.

The second heat of the trot was a very exciting contested one. The driver of Tom Ryder evidently had his money on the field, for he carried Keating's Frank M. all over the track, while Winslow and Belle Button were fighting for the heat, but were overhauled by Frank M. on the homestretch and they came down at a lively pace with Frank at Winslow's shoulder, but just before the line was reached Frank shot ahead and took the heat by a nose. Time, 2:21.

Frank M. took the third heat, Belle Button second, Ryder third and Winslow fourth. Time 2:22 3/4.
Winslow won the fourth heat, with Ryder second, Belle Button and Frank M. fourth. Time, 2:26 3/4.

THE PAVILION

In the Early Morning Light Misses the Madding Crowd.

Hearing that thirteen car loads were coming down from Virginia and Carson and also numerous carriage loads of merry-makers coming over the grade, the GAZETTE reporter hid himself to the pavilion to see the latest exhibits, all of which are now in, and the several committees busily at work trying to come to some decision as to which is best among the puzzling array in each department.

The only awards made thus far were by the King and Quilt Committee, composed of the following ladies:
Mrs. John Cahlan, Susanville; Mrs.
F. C. Van Duzer, Reno; Mrs. Wm.
Wright, Reno.
The prizes were as follows:
Best silk quilt, Mrs. R. M. Clarke.
Japanese patchwork, Mrs. W. S.
Wilson.
Cotton patchwork, Lizzie Hogan.

Quilt by aged lady, Emily McGroom.
Crimped bedspread, Mrs. Abrams.
Embroidered bedspread, Mrs. R. M.
Clarke.
Knit bedspread, Mrs. B. C. Shearer.
Quilted bedspread, Mrs. W. Wager.
Best drawn rug, Mrs. L. Morrell.
Braided house rug, Mrs. W. W.
Morton.
House rug, Mrs. L. Morrell.
Knit house rug, Mrs. W. S. Bender.
Home made carpet, Mary Fitzgerald.

To be decided this p. m. Best patch work quilt by lady over sixty, the prize being offered by Levy Bros.
The Art Committee also finish their labors this p. m.

There is so much on the lower floor to win one's admiration that it hardly seems fair to particularize, still some portions of it will stand out in bold relief.

The first display to greet one's eye, and especially interesting to ladies, is the Beverly Automatic Steam Cooker, odorless and sootless with quite a lengthy rhyme upon the gasoline tank telling of its wonderful merits.

Next a draped urn of granite, from John Barrett's quarry in Washoe county—a neat bit of stone cutting.
A large case of honey from E. A.
Moore's apiary, extracted, bottled, clear as crystal, and some in the comb and some in crates ready for shipment, as fine in appearance as any ever seen.

The cone-shaped stand of mineral waters, cordials and sarsaparilla and iron exhibited by Herman Fyves was refreshing to look at, as well as quite imposing in appearance. Sarsaparilla and iron has become widely known and popular as a delicious drink, a blood tonic and beneficial generally.

Here the GAZETTE reporter found his way so blocked by our welcome visitors from the Constock, and view so obstructed, that he decided to wait until the next issue to give an extended report of the whole.

Before leaving we watched the surging crowd upon which the golden sunlight rested, and seemed to throw into high relief every article in the room, as only morning light can. We realized the excellence of it all, and thought, dear Nevada you, too, are in the early morning light of your day, in fact the sun is just peeping over the hills, but in this clear atmosphere it shall grow bolder and brighter until the closing day shall see you in an honored seat among your sister States.

RICHARD III.

Keene to be Supported by a Good Company

This morning's Enterprise says: A large audience was in the Opera House last evening, drawn by the announcement that Keene would play "Richard III." Expectation founded on the reputation of the tragedian was high, and realizations in a perfect rendition of the difficult character was complete. The masterful force of the gloomy nature of Richard is made by Keene's genius a present shuddering reality. Until the day scene before the curtain drops he is lost in the character, and the audience sees nothing but the active, venomous tyrant that Shakespeare created.

Mr. Learock, as Earl of Richmond, acquitted himself excellently. He is a good Richmond, equal to the support of such a man as Keene. Miss Lavinia Shannon as Lady Anne, and Mrs. S. A. Bader as Duchess of York, were both good. The plot of the Duchess for her sons was a powerful piece of emotional acting. Keene is, in fact, worthy of the play, and his support is so good that the lines of the great bard of Cribbers emanations lost nothing in the acting.

To be presented at McKissick's Opera House to-morrow (Saturday) night.

An Indian Outbreak Expected.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 26.—Captain Trimbleton, of the Seventh United States cavalry at Fort Sill, has passed through Pittsburg. He says the greatest Indian uprising of recent times is certain to come soon.
The Indians have got the idea that a great medicine man is coming to wipe out the whites and restore to them the ownership of the country. The result is, they have entered with the fervor of fanatics upon a series of incantations and religious orgies. Five thousand Indians at Fort Sill have renounced Christianity, and he says it is certain that in a short time somebody will be expected to be the expected great medicine man, and then trouble will begin. He thinks all the United States garrisons should be doubled.

An Anticipated Strike.

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—A strike of the employees of the West Division street railway is inevitable, and is set for Monday. It is asserted the chief cause is the agitation by political leaders to make political capital and antagonism between the two unions comprising the force. The officials of the company say they propose to make an uncompromising fight, and will never again employ any strikers, no matter what it costs. They say the recent series of accidents on the cable line were put up jobs to get the company in bad odor with the public.

A Few Nominations.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—The President sent to the Senate the following nominations: E. Burd Grubb of New Jersey, Minister to Spain; Edwin Conger of Iowa, Minister to Brazil; Isaac A. Beers, Indian Agent of the Hoopa Valley Agency, Cal.; Fremont Wood, U. S. Attorney for Idaho; Lewis B. Kinney, Probate Judge of Sevier county, Utah, and Alexander Whitcomb, Postmaster of Albuquerque, N. M.

The Wheat Market.

"Liverpool fixes the price of wheat," creak the free-traders. It does nothing of the sort. It just buys what other nations have to spare after they have filled the mouths of their own people. The United States purchases wheat for 65,000,000 of people, Liverpool for about 30,000,000. It needs no argument to prove that the demand for 65,000,000 of people has vastly more to do with fixing the price of wheat than the demand for 30,000,000 can have.

But just as we had finished reading a free-trader's reassertion of Liverpool's price-fixing power we opened a London newspaper, of August 1, 1890, and under the heading "Corn Markets," wheat being called corn in England, we read:

"From the United States there is a paucity of news respecting harvests in the Southern States and California. But as New York and Chicago keep steady, or slightly advance rates, the situation is regarded as favorable by our sellers."

Will our free-trade friends condescend to consider this. In the absence of full reports from America the English wheat market is uncertain—Liverpool does not fix the price, you see; the price is determined by reports of American rates—"but as New York and Chicago keep steady, or slightly advance rates," says the English reporter, "the situation is regarded as favorable by our sellers." That is to say, the seller in England holds his demand for high rates firmly because "New York and Chicago keep steady or slightly advance rates." If New York and Chicago had showed unsteady markets, or if the prices had been downward, English prices would have declined.

The Chicago Inter Ocean says: Let us have an end of the nonsense about Liverpool fixing the price of wheat. It will never fix it unless, as the result of free-trade in America, our agricultural outputs are vastly increased and our manufacturing population, which now consumes nine-tenths of them, is greatly diminished.

MR. POWDERLY says that it was evident to the leaders that the strike on the New York Central Railroad was a failure from the close of the first week. But it was deemed necessary to teach the employers a severe lesson, and for that the agitation was kept up, entailing a loss to the company of $20,000,000. But what was the loss to the workers, and how much better able are they to stand it than is the railroad company to bear its punishment? Mr. Powderly's argument lacks force.

R. K. COLCORD the Republican nominee for Governor, is a man from the loins of honest labor. He is a mechanic, and knows what it is to earn his bread by the sweat of his brow. His sympathies are all with the laboring class, and he can be trusted with the reins of government.

ACCORDING to a New Orleans newspaper, Louisiana must have money, and it impudently asks the people of the other forty-three States to support her government by contributing to the lottery slush fund.

THE Democratic press does not seem to be making much headway in its "argument" that Colcord is not a taxpayer. It will have to "drop on its system" if it makes any votes for Mr. Winters.

NOTHING that could happen will go so far towards purifying Nevada politics as the Australian ballot system. The Republicans have declared in favor of it in their platform.

DEMOCRATS cannot criticize the long and tiresome session of the present Congress. They alone are responsible for it, and have nothing to show for it, either.

LOUISIANA is not pleased with its slow growth in population. This is unreasonable. Louisiana's politics is not the sort which attracts settlers.

A MARVELOUS CLOCK.

Philadelphia's Present to the Cruiser Named for Her.

The Finest Specimen of Clock-Making Ever Produced in the United States—A Work of Art as Well as an Accurate Time-Keeper.

A cable forms a square around the clock case, and in loops at each of the two upper corners a fouled anchor is hefted. From either side of the group around the dial two draped American standards jut out gracefully, and beneath the two female figures, which stand on a kind of promontory, are seen choppy waves bordered with a scroll, bearing the words, "Philadelphia Maneto." A massive scroll at the base of the clock is inscribed "U. S. S. Philadelphia."

The silver dial bears figures in gold in relief of most beautiful and original design. The minutes are divided by raised, golden pegs, while the center of the face bears an exquisite piece of the jeweler's art. It is the shield of the city's arms. The plow, in the top section of the device, is in relief, as is the ship, with all her canvas on, which is in the lower third. The whole plate is most dainty and correct in detail, and above it, also in bas relief, is the arm of justice, with the balance. A rich, golden scroll frames the arms on the face, which, altogether, is pronounced to be not only exquisite but unique. This part of the ornamentation is an excellent specimen of the good engraver's art. Considerable difficulty was encountered in modeling the work in getting an eagle that would be suitable. Finally a fine specimen was secured in the Academy of Natural Sciences, and it has been faithfully reproduced. The two female figures were modeled from life, and are fair representations of graceful and lithe feminine forms. They are in a gilt bronze, which contrasts pleasantly with the dark bronze of their surroundings. In the original model the two figures were in bas relief, but the sculptor, and rightly, too, thought that the effect could be heightened by placing the figures in full relief, as they are now seen.

To give some idea of the care bestowed upon the time-piece it should be mentioned that, in order to have the guns and the old-style wooden ship in the design truthful, the firm sent to the Navy Department and received photographs of the old man-of-war Constitution and of the new-style onslance, and from these those seen in the completed work were modeled.

Strictly speaking, the movement of the clock is a nautical one. It is constructed with a balance wheel on the principle of a watch; consequently the pitching and tossing sea will not affect the movement. The escapement is a demochronometer, jeweled in all its principal parts, and highly finished. Instead of the hours, the chime of bells strikes in complete, in true nautical style, the ship's bells. When it is twelve o'clock eight bells are struck, instead of twelve, as in other time-pieces; at nine o'clock, two bells, etc. This has never before been accomplished in a fine clock. Another feature which will be appreciated by mariners, which is also an improvement, is that of making the hour hand free of its twin, the minute hand, in regulating the clock. This enables them to turn the clock back or forward an hour without disturbing the minute hand, as is required to be done every day in crossing the various degrees of longitude during a voyage.

The regulation of the hands and bells is commanded by a series of wheels, hidden in a metal closet opening on one side of the case. An ingenious device has been contrived to open the bezel of the clock; so that the minute hand can be turned in regulating it. When not required to be open it is locked by a minute lock in the lower part. By inserting a small hooklike key and giving it a turn the case is unlocked. Two other hooks are placed in the sides, and the plate glass and bezel drawn out about an inch. Then by a hidden hinge on the top the piece can be raised.

The clock is incased in a mahogany box and the back is of steel. The whole piece weighs about 450 pounds, is about three feet high, and is nearly as many broad.

A FOOL'S SMARTNESS.

A Species of Humor Intimately Related to Blackguardism.

"Smart" people are the curse of the earth, says the Chicago Journal Stroller. I was at a reception at the house of a wealthy and learned person not many evenings ago. In the hall I met a man for whom previously I had entertained very great respect, as he had always appeared to be intelligent and well-bred. He chatted pleasantly as usual, and had some possibly comments to make about nearly all the other guests. I thought him to be one of those patently sensitive and polite persons who, if he tried, couldn't offend or offend a fellow-creature. I was soon undeceived. While he was talking to me a young lady entered the room. She was without escort and evidently expected some friends. She could not be called pretty, but she certainly was very amiable and piquante. She held out her hand to my friend and greeted him as an old acquaintance—but by some other name. He explained matters. She seemed to be convinced that she had known him at some time. He smiled discomfited. Finally she blushed deeply, seemed very much humiliated and joined her friends. My friend (?) said, as he took my arm: "I know her well enough. We have often spoken, but I wanted to rattle her a little."

Scrofula Scored.
"My adopted boy, aged 14 years, suffered terribly from scrofula some on his leg, which spread till they at one time formed one great sore from the calf of his leg up to his thigh, partially covered with scab, and discharging matter continually. The muscles became contracted so that his leg was drawn up and he could hardly walk. We tried everything we could hear of, without success, until we began giving him Hood's Sarsaparilla. In just a month, after he had taken two-thirds of a bottle, the sores entirely healed, his leg perfectly straight, and he
